

Ceremony for admitting someone to the Order of the

RAGNAR'S HAMMER

Herald: Now let _____ come before
Their Royal Majesties.

Crown: Says personal words (before or after the scroll is read) about the person's exemplary service to Battlemoor.

Herald: Reads the scroll or the text below:

Settled in the Outlands and having found much wordfame, in Stag lands, nearer this realm and farther flung, Battlemoor thrives, great Thing for those whose journey reaches the orphaned mount. _____, Mighty Kyng, with _____, beloved Cwene at his side, set his will to honor those of his people shining with dedication and service to this, and have them be thought well of, beyond setting hands and bodies to work this land, even turning minds and hearts to serve an idea, to believe and to love, to grow something with spirit and substance.

To this place of honor, shared for the vision that is Battlemoor, did the Stag Crown demand _____ come. They did thank him/her in many graceful and fair words for such toil and sacrifice as must be made to raise up the glory of a realm. For such tribute and nobility, He did name _____ as Companion to Ragnar's Hammer, with thanks and love.

Set in word and stone, action and deed, upon the fields of Battlemoor, this _____ day of _____, marked as the _____ year of the society, being _____ in the common reckoning.

_____ Kyng _____ Cwene

Crown: Presents the recipient as they see fit (which could be done while the scroll is being read), and makes further comments, if any.

Herald: For _____, HIP, HIP... (3 cheers)

Recipient leaves the Royal Presence.